Ms. Harley:

The following corrections--which I have boldfaced on the attached original list--have not been made yet:

1. Page 75, 1st paragraph after the quotes, line 6: Please delete the comma and the word, "above," after "Revelation 21:8." (One of the quotes is from Revelation 21:8, but the reader will only know that if they read the Endnotes.) Thus, it will simply read: "... as stated in Revelation 21:8; or (2)..."
2. Page 117: Please skip a line between the first paragraph (which begins, "Neither this warning nor the rescue of the other believers. . .") and the quote which immediately follows it (which begins, "And Noah said. . .")
3. Page 118: Please skip a line between the 1st paragraph after "The Covenant" (which begins, "Finally, the Qur'ân seems to deny. . .") and the quote immediately following it (which begins, "When his Lord put Abraham to the proof. . .")
4. Page 176, Endnote #285: The quote (which begins, "Prophet, We have made lawful for you the wives. . .," and ends with "God is ever forgiving and merciful.") should be indented from both the left and right margins, and lines should be skipped before and after the quote.

May God bless,
 Don Davidson

Hello! According to your contract, you have one chance to review your book prior to print. Your book has now completed its contractual text review period, and all necessary corrections have been implemented.

As a courtesy to you, we are offering you the opportunity to look at your book one last time before it is sent to the printer. Take 48 hours to make sure that the revisions you requested during your contractual text review period have been made. Please do not add any new revisions, but be sure that the ones you pointed out earlier have been implemented. After this final review, your book will be in its final form and will be ready to be printed. Please understand that after publication, corrections may not be made to your book.

I will expect an email reply in two business days—on 10/22/07—so that I
