

Notice that I do not want the contract to automatically renew

Tuesday, June 23, 2009, 10:34 PM

From: "DON DAVIDSON" <

To: "PublishAmerica Author Support Team" <support@publishamerica.com>

Sirs,

Per paragraph 1 of our contract, I am notifying you that I am declining to renew our contract when it expires at the end of the seven-year contract period.

Please acknowledge your receipt and understanding of this email notification.

May God bless,

Don Davidson

The Eternal Perspective: Essays on the Truth of Christianity by a Former Skeptic

Notice that I do not want the contract to automatically renew

Friday, June 26, 2009 9:57 AM

From: "PublishAmerica Author Support" <support@publishamerica.com>

To: "DON DAVIDSON"

Dear

Thank you for informing us of your decision not to renew your contract. We have made note. Your contract will end on July 27, 2014, and your book will go out of print.

Have a good day,
PublishAmerica Support
support@publishamerica.com

At 11:34 PM 6/23/2009, you wrote:

Sirs,

Per paragraph 1 of our contract, I am notifying you that I am declining to renew our contract when it expires at the end of the seven-year contract period.

Please acknowledge your receipt and understanding of this email notification.

May God bless,
Don Davidson

The Eternal Perspective: Essays on the Truth of Christianity by a Former Skeptic

6/26/2009

February 2, 2010

PublishAmerica, L.L.P.
P.O. Box 151
Frederick, MD 21705

RE: Non-renewal of Contract for *The Eternal Perspective:
Essays on the Truth of Christianity by a Former Skeptic*

Dear Sirs:

On June 23, 2009, I sent you a notice via electronic mail (email) that I was declining to renew our contract when it expires at the end of the seven-year contract period. You responded in an email dated June 26, 2009, acknowledging my notice and stating: "Your contract will end on July 27, 2014, and your book will go out of print."

However, in reviewing my contract, I note that paragraph 29 requires such notices to be either delivered or sent via U.S. mail, rather than via email. Thus, to ensure that all legalities are properly observed, I am again notifying you, this time via U.S. mail, that I am declining to renew our contract when it expires at the end of the seven-year contract period.

I would appreciate a letter acknowledging this notice, so that I will not have to send another notice via certified mail to ensure that you received it.

Thank you for your assistance and cooperation. May God bless you and yours, and may you be a blessing to others.

Kindest regards,

ORIGINAL SIGNED

DON DAVIDSON

