

How to catch Amazon's attention, and more

Wednesday, April 11, 2012 4:03 PM

From: "PublishAmerica Bookstore" <noreply@publishamerica.com>

To:

Is this email not displaying correctly?
View it in your browser.

Dear author:

Hey Amazon!: Book Expo America is offering us promotion space in New York directly across from the Amazon Pavillion. Look at this big banner and tell us if you want to catch Amazon's attention with your book on it: www.publishamerica.net/service/HeyAmazon.html. Starts at $99.

Orlando convention: WE NEED YOUR REGISTRATION EARLY! Join the authors convention in Orlando on May 1. Meet your publisher and many other authors. Inspiring speakers, and a big group book signing in the famous Center Court of the Florida Mall to top it off. Register today, go to www.authorsconvention.com or www.publishamerica.net/service/conventionauthor.html. Starts at $29.

Bookstore all over USA: Now that PublishAmerica travels all over the nation, in Orlando 3 weeks from now, with scheduled stops in the New York, Detroit, Atlanta, Memphis, Chicago, Ohio, Los Angeles and Seattle areas next, we bring our bookstore with us. Your book stocked and promoted everywhere, guaranteed! Go to www.publishamerica.net/service/Bookstore.html. Starts at $149.

Zorba the Greek: We'll promote your book at the cradle of western civilization, Greece, when we attend the Thessaloniki Book Fair next month. We will meet publishers and translation rights agents from all over Europe. Go to www.publishamerica.net/service/MyBookInGreece.html. Starts at $25.

