

YAHOO! MAIL
Classic

Shall we fly your book to China?

Tuesday, April 17, 2012 1:03 PM

From: "PublishAmerica Bookstore" <noreply@publishamerica.com>

To:

Is this email not displaying correctly?

View it in your browser.

Dear author:

We had a very good meeting with China's main literary agency yesterday, during the London Book Fair. Then Chinese radio and TV came to our promotion booth!! All showed an urgent interest in PublishAmerica books and authors. They urged us to come to Beijing this summer, to visit the Beijing Book Fair.

Do you want us to present and promote your book

in China?

(We'll go if you say yes!)

After meeting with the Chinese in London we are now very close to deciding to go. And if you want us to promote your book in the world's most populous nation, with now the most books published, and the most internet users, say the word and we'll get on the plane and promote your work in China, and tell them all about you!

Go to www.publishamerica.net/service/ChinaYes.html for $29, and we will introduce your book at the Beijing Book Fair, where all of China's 500

